Image thumbnails used to create web pages that can be quickly created, hosted and embedded in web pages.

ThumbHTML allows you to generate a thumbnails library, so they can be easily inserted into a web page, as well as creating slide show and include them in a web page. ThumbHTML supports multiple image formats, which make it simple to create slideshows. You can create a thumbnail library in various formats, such as BMP, JPG, GIF, PNG.

ThumbHTML supports a variety of output formats, such as HTML, PHP, MOD, PHP, GD, PHPTN, TXT, TXTHT, TXTPLT. The output settings will allow you to create a library as a web page, including the creation of a slideshow, and many other various output formats. All formats supported by ThumbHTML, which include: HTML, PDF, Java, HTCVCX, MOD, PHP, PHPTN, TXT, TXTHT, TXTPLT. You can easily use the free version of ThumbHTML, which is the equivalent of the application for Mac OS X. This may be limited to creation of thumbnails, but this is a very powerful application and can produce anything you need.
